(題組 33-35)

Are men better drivers than women? Few men would agree their wives or girlfriends are better drivers than they are. In fact, a study shows women are much safer drivers than men.

The study shows that men are more dangerous drivers than women. That is, the number of men dying in the car accidents is twice more than women. Perhaps it is because men like to race cars, show off, or drive after they drink. Women tend to drive more carefully and slowly to keep the roads safe. Car accident reports also show men between 18 and 25 are much more likely to get hurt in accidents.

Another interesting study found men and women get into car accidents in different ways. When women drive, they put on make-up, eat or drink, but when men drive, they smoke and talk with people in the cars. One thing everyone agrees is both women and men are dangerous drivers when they use the phone.

Although women are safer drivers, some studies also point out men usually plan ahead about the places they're going and know when to turn, but women usually decide at the last minute to make their turns. All in all, both men and women should be more careful when they drive. That is the safest way to take you home.

34. According to the article, what does the sentence “the number of men dying in the car accidents is twice more than women” mean?

- (A) Women can be healthier than men.
- (B) Women try to be as careful as men.
- (C) The death total of women in car accidents is less than men.
- (D) Women are better at driving than men.

35. What is NOT true about the reading?

- (A) Both men and women are dangerous drivers when talking on the phone.
- (B) When driving, women usually make a turn at the last minute.
- (C) Men like to race cars while women like to eat and drink when driving.
- (D) Drivers at the age of 18 to 25 are not careful drivers.
